

42. Further Description of Important Interior & Exterior Features (Continued)...

shows that this house had essentially the same footprint at that time as it has now, although it appears that some small rear additions have been removed in the intervening years. The original clapboard has been covered with asbestos siding.

43. History & Significance (Continued)...

daughter Esther married John Dietlin, a truck driver & worker at Janby Oil, around 1930 & the couple stayed with their four children through about 1944. After 1944, the McGinty's & Dietlin's disappear from the directories. Arlene Stalnaker, clerk at Oberlin Consumers Co-op & Watson Hardware, and her husband Elihu, who worked at Colson factory & as a janitor at OC, bought the house around this time and stayed through at least 1961. Renters living with them were: Geo & Maude Coons, retired (1948); Bayard Marks, a machine operator at Western AMS, his wife Reta & their three children (1948); Hershel King, who worked at General Industries Factory & his wife Inez (1956); Charlotte Cantley, her husband Clarence, who worked at General Motors, & their child (1956); Rose Gould (1956); Mary Johnson, Haulks Nursing Home Aide (1961-1970); Chas E Stanley, lab technician at Elyria Foundry, his wife Loretta, & their two children (1961); Delores Ward, her husband Homer, construction worker, & their two children (1961). By 1970, Frank Stamps, retired, had bought the house. Renters living with him were Christopher Bullock, student, Mary Johnson, & PL Hoffman, student (City Directory). There is a gap in the records until Michael Savulak bought this apartment house in 1994 followed by the current owner, Douglas McMillan, who purchased it in 1998 (Property Card).

45. Sources of Information (Continued)...

190 S. Main